QSource, serves as Co-Principal (Co-PI) Investigator for the Tennessee Heart Health Network. Dr. Heavrin also works as an ER doctor and he frequently sees people who are not getting the preventive heart health care they need most. As Co-PI, he is directing our efforts to provide helpful practice facilitation to our primary care providers and to improve cardiovascular disease prevention across Tennessee.

If you have a great story to share with our audience, please mail us at info@tnhearthealth.org. We look forward to hearing from you!

Learn about Agile Implementation

TN-HHN practices and other primary care clinics are invited to access a model aimed at helping them to quickly adapt to a changing landscape and to provide incremental improvements to the quality of their care delivery. The Agile Implementation model is a proven, evidence-based methodology with actionable tools designed specifically to improve healthcare through an eight-step process. Designed by Malaz Boustani, MD, a member of the TN-HHN Implementation and Practice Facilitation Team, the Agile Implementation approach is described in his two books:

- Agile Implementation: A Model for Implementing Evidence-Based Healthcare Solutions into Real-World Practice to Achieve Sustainable Change
- The Agile Network: A Model to Foster Innovation, Implementation, and Diffusion in Healthcare Systems

The books are available from Amazon, or as free eBooks from the Center for Health Innovation and Implementation Science. For more information as well as free eBooks and online learning resources, please visit the Center website. Watch for our webinar about Agile Implementation, which will feature Dr. Boustani.

Join Us!

Whether you are a physician, nurse, pharmacist, office manager, other primary care team member, a patient, caregiver, or other patient advocate, we welcome your involvement.
