Learning Collaboratives Now Online as Webinars

Catching a TN Heart Health Network Learning Collaborative that you missed or sharing one with your team is easy now that our 2024 presentations are posted as Webinars on our website.

We are posting a video recording of each that includes the presentation as well as the Q&A, which often has good information. When you visit our Webinars page, you will find a PDF listing the Webinars chronologically (with links) as well as clickable logos that will take you to Webinars in each of our four subject areas: Addressing Social Needs, Patient & Community Engagement, Pharmacist-Physician Collaboration, and Team-based Care.

You will see that we also have expanded our offerings beyond our original noon schedule to include our Primary Care Toolkit sessions, a partnership with the TN Academy of Family Physicians, as well as our Patient & Community Engagement presentations. Led by our Patient Advisory Councils (PAC) in Memphis, Nashville, Chattanooga, Knoxville, and Tri-cities, these presentations focus on the concerns of individuals in communities and their perspectives on being a patient.

We hope these changes make our Learning Collaboratives more accessible, and also broaden the scope of this series. Sign up here for future presentations.

Upcoming Learning Collaboratives

Addressing Social Needs

05/07 Shared Decision Making: Advocating for What Matters Most

Kristi Wick

Kristi Wick, DNP, FNP-BC, GS-C, Vicky B. Gregg Chair of Gerontology, Assistant Professor, University of Tennessee Chattanooga School of Nursing, discusses the complex nature of chronic conditions older adults experience. This poses challenges to patients as well as caregivers, health professionals, and community stakeholders. It is essential to align interprofessional team expertise and collaboration with the patient's wishes for management of their health conditions. Learning Collaborative participants will learn strategies to navigate evidence based practice and "real-life" to ensure achievement of "What Matters Most."

Presented at noon central time

Why 04/23 Why is SDOH important to the patient?*Liliana Burbano

Liliana Burbano, Director of Community Health Equity for UT Medical Center, will discuss social determinants of health (SDOH) and what this means in real life to real people. Among the topics are resources in our area to address common SDOH, how to discuss them with your provider, and methods to prevent SDOH from complicating chronic disease.

Presented at 6:00 pm central time.*05/28 The Heart and Mental/Behavioral Health Connection Eboni Winford

Eboni Winford, PhD, MPH, Director of Research and Health Equity at Cherokee Health Systems, will share the connection between mental health, heart health and chronic diseases as we celebrate May as Mental Health Awareness Month.

Presented at 6:00 pm central time*04/16 California Right Meds Collaborative*Steve Chen

Steve Chen, PharmD, FASHP, FCSHP, FNAP, is founder of California Right Meds Collaborative (CRMC), which aligns pharmacies, academic and professional organizations to deliver Comprehensive Medication Management (CMM) services through a sustainable, value-based payment model. The overall goal is to reduce the burden of chronic disease by advancing the role of pharmacists. This is the first in our series of national speakers. CE will be provided for pharmacy.

Presented 11:00 am central time*05/14 Primary Care Toolkit: Using Telehealth to Outreach Patients, Improve Health*Satya Surbhi

As part of our Primary Care Toolkit series, Satya Surbhi, PhD, Assistant Professor, UT Health Science Center College of Medicine, and Director of Measurement and Reporting, TN Population Health Consortium, discusses using telehealth. She will identify the importance and evidence related to the effectiveness of telehealth and describe approaches physicians and practices can use to employ telehealth. CME credit is available.

Presented at 6:30 pm central time
